Neurodiversity Statement

At Rooted Christian Academy, we value and respect the unique ways that children learn, communicate, interact and experience the world. We understand that some children may have diagnosed or undiagnosed learning, developmental, sensory, behavioral, attention, or social-emotional differences, including ADHD, autism, sensory processing challenges, anxiety, or other neurodevelopmental needs.

We believe strong partnership with our families and teachers is essential. Parents are encouraged to share helpful information regarding their child's strengths, challenges, triggers, diagnoses, therapies, or support strategies so we can best support their child within the classroom.

While we strive to support a wide range of individual needs, Rooted Christian Academy is not a therapeutic, behavioral, or special education program and is not able to provide 1:1 aides, intensive behavioral intervention, or specialized clinical services.

If a child's needs significantly impact their safety, well being, or ability to participate successfully in the program, we will need to discuss whether our program is the best for the child at that time.

By signing below, you agree that you have read and understand Rooted Christian Academy's Policy on neurodivergence and agree to meet with the director to discuss any needed details before enrollment.
